Dear Mr. and Mrs. Roberts:

I am writing express my sincere congratulations and thanks upon the conclusion of Push for Change, your remarkable journey from Newfoundland to Vancouver with a shopping cart.

When I had the chance to meet you last March, you still had more than 3,000 kilometres left to go. Now, six months later, you have reached the Final Push, a true testament to the tenacity and passion with which you approach this issue.

Your work to raise awareness and advance the cause of youth homelessness is of great importance. It is clear that Canada still has much to do to better address this issue, and our Government will not stop working to make progress, including through better housing, more opportunities in the community, and improved access to mental health services.

Thank you once again for undertaking this incredible initiative to raise awareness on the subject of youth homelessness. Please accept my best wishes for every future endeavour.

Sincerely,

Mr. Joe Roberts
